

Dermal Fillers

Dermal Fillers are a non-surgical cosmetic treatment used to bring a more youthful appearance by restoring volume or fullness to the face and lips.

They work by reducing or eliminating lines, wrinkles and folds in the skin and the effect is seen immediately after treatment.

As skin ages, both naturally and because of other factors such as sun damage, smoking and poor diet we lose collagen, fat and other natural moisturising substances from our skin. These can be thought of as the natural scaffolding that keeps skin looking young and feeling firm. With less of these, our skin becomes thinner and we start to see lines, wrinkles and folds developing. This is usually more noticeable on our faces.

Line Eliminating Fillers

The fillers we use are all temporary and usually last up to 12 months. We use them to fill out creases such as those lines that won't relax out after line eliminating injections. The most common areas are the furrows joining the edge of the nose to the corners of the mouth called the nasio-labial folds, the lines running down from the corners of the mouth called marionette lines and also to plump up or define the lips.

Although fillers can often be used to correct any lines, it is usually done to compliment line reducing injections that have ideally been placed 2 weeks before treatment. There are many types of fillers on the market today. A lot of them are made from the jelly-like material that our body joins its cells together with. It is found naturally throughout our bodies: in our skin, bones, joints and eyes. It acts as a lubricant and moisturiser due to its ability to attract and store water.

The gel is made from non-animal / human origin and is sterile and perfectly safe.
